The best buying agents for prime property in 2023

14TH MARCH 2023 by SPEAR'S

Welcome to the Spear's ranking of the best prime property buying agents, part of the Spear's Property Index in association with One Green Way, for high-net-worth individuals.

Finding the right home can be time-consuming and taxing for high-net-worth individuals whether in London or out of it – so it's prudent to make the search easier with the expertise of one of the best buying agents for prime property on your side.

A buying agent will determine your objectives, protect your interests and use their experience and insights to find your dream home at the best possible price – even if that means looking off-market for the finest properties.

Savvy buying agents can also scout out properties whose owners may have had no pre-existing intentions to sell, all while ensuring an appropriate level of discretion.

Spear's publishes annual rankings of the top private client advisers and service-providers to HNWs. These are drawn up on the basis of peer nominations, client feedback, telephone and face-to-face interviews, data supplied by firms, as well as information gathered by the Spear's editorial and research teams.

The London buying agents featured in the 2023 edition of the Spear's Property Advisers Index are included in the table below, along with their Spear's ranking, firm and 'focus' areas of expertise.

Click on the individual names to be directed to more detailed profiles of each adviser in the digital version of the Spear's 500.
